Ralph Charles YOUNG

RAF

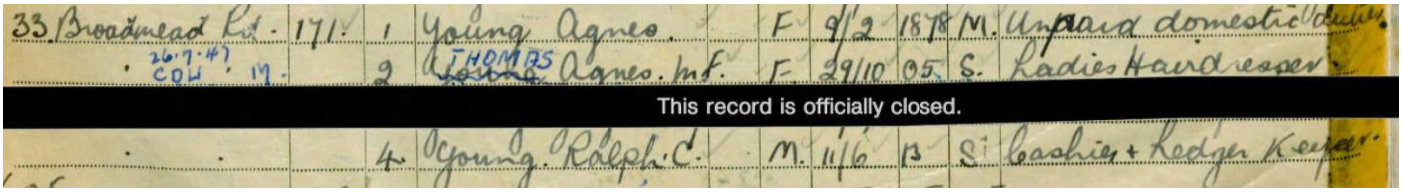

620 Squadron

2nd July 1943

Age 31

Ralph Charles Young was born in Romford on 11th June 1913, the son of Herbert Walter Young and his wife Agnes, nee Sweeting. In 1939, he was living with his mother and two siblings at 33 Broadmead Road, Wanstead and he was employed as a Cashier and Ledger Keeper.

In 1940 he married Molly Lydia Kitchener, a comptometer operator, in Edmonton. She was born on 30th November 1914.

It is not known when Ralph enlisted but in May 1943 he was an Flight Engineer with 620 Squadron.

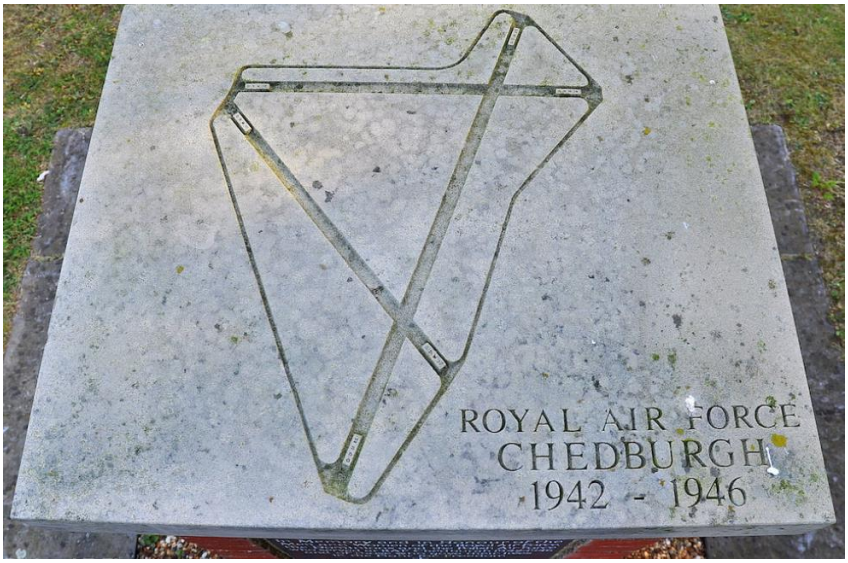

This Squadron was formed on 17th June 1943 and based at RAF Chedburgh. It was comprised of 10 Stirlings from each of 149 and 214 Squadrons, and two days later on 19/20 June, as a part of No. 3 Group of RAF Bomber Command, it began operations with an attack by eight Stirlings on the Schneider armament works at Le Creusot in France.

They lost their first aircraft with the loss of all crew. On 2 July 1943 two Stirling aircraft, EF394 (V) and BK724 (Y), collided over the airfield whist flying in formation during an air affiliation exercise. One came down near to the local pub The Marquis Cornwallis and the other in Stansfield. Only the rear gunner of the Stansfield crash survived with horrific burns. The two crews included five ground staff who were along for experience. Charles, aged 21 years, was one of the men who lost his life.

Ralph was buried at Haverhill cemetery, Suffolk, England, grave 198, section U. Others who perished in the same accident are also buried in Haverhill Cemetery. They are Sgt R G Lancelott, RAF, from Birmingham, Observer Douglas Menzies Thomson, RAF, from Watford and Leading Aircraftman C S Forster, RAF, from Cleethorpes and Sgt Robert Elmer Atkinson of the RCAF.

The memorial to those who lost their lives at RAF Chedburgh.

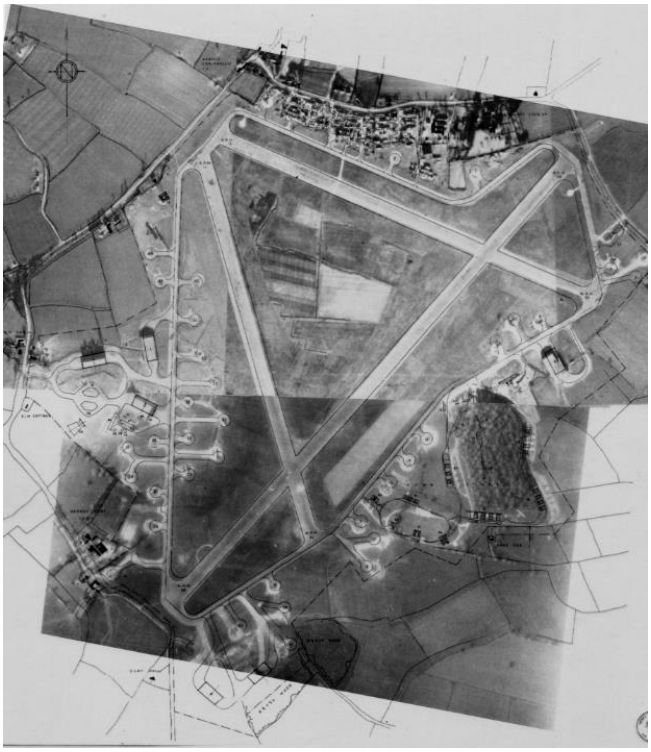

Chedburgh was one of the earliest operational wartime airfields in Suffolk. Built by John Laing and Co., it was a satellite bomber station for nearby RAF Stradishall.
